This agreement is required before a personally owned horse is brought onto Lone Oak Riding Stables property for riding lessons or other approved activities.

This agreement supplements the rider's Riding Agreement and Liability Release and Assumption of Risk Agreement.

2. HORSE SUITABILITY

All personally owned horses are subject to evaluation by the instructor before or during the first lesson. The instructor determines whether the horse is suitable for the rider, planned activities, facilities, and lesson environment.

The evaluation may include the horse's behavior, health, soundness, hoof or shoe condition, tack and equipment, and other safety or welfare considerations.

Approval is not permanent. The instructor may modify, suspend, or discontinue the horse's participation if circumstances, behavior, health, soundness, equipment, rider suitability, safety, or horse welfare change.

The instructor's determination regarding whether a personal horse may participate is final.

If a personal horse cannot participate, the rider may use a suitable Lone Oak horse if one is available and appropriate. If no substitute horse is available, the instructor will determine whether the lesson is modified, rescheduled, cancelled, or considered completed based on the circumstances, whether the issue was reasonably knowable before arrival, and compliance with applicable health and biosecurity requirements.

3. HEALTH & BIOSECURITY REQUIREMENTS

Personally owned horses must be in appropriate health for participation and meet Lone Oak's current health and biosecurity requirements.

Before a horse comes onto the property, the owner must provide requested documentation, including:

- evidence of current core equine vaccinations consistent with applicable veterinary guidance; and
- a negative Equine Infectious Anemia (EIA/Coggins) test within the preceding 12 months.

Lone Oak may require additional veterinary documentation, testing, vaccination, or biosecurity precautions when reasonably appropriate because of current disease conditions, the horse's travel or exposure history, veterinary guidance, or other health or biosecurity concerns.

Do not bring a horse to Lone Oak if the horse has a fever or other signs of illness, has had recent known or suspected exposure to a contagious equine disease, is subject to quarantine or movement restrictions, or presents another known or suspected contagious-disease risk. If you are unsure whether your horse should come to the property, contact Lone Oak before transporting the horse.

The owner must promptly inform Lone Oak of material changes affecting the horse's health or eligibility to participate.

Lone Oak may refuse entry, restrict participation, isolate a horse as reasonably necessary, or require immediate removal because of illness, contagious-disease risk, biosecurity concerns, or another health or safety concern.

4. BIOSECURITY WHILE ON THE PROPERTY

Follow all biosecurity instructions given by Lone Oak. Unless specifically permitted:

- do not use communal water containers or buckets;
- do not share feed, grooming supplies, tack, or other horse equipment;
- limit direct contact between horses as directed;
- keep the horse in the designated area; and
- clean or disinfect shared equipment when Lone Oak requires it.

5. TACK & EQUIPMENT

Personally owned horses ordinarily use their own properly fitted tack and equipment.

The instructor may inspect tack and equipment for apparent condition, fit, suitability, and safety. The instructor may require adjustment, replacement, or removal of equipment that appears unsafe, damaged, improperly fitted, or unsuitable for the planned activity.

Lone Oak may provide suitable equipment when available and appropriate.

6. USE OF THE PROPERTY

No independent use of the arena, facilities, or property is permitted.

A personally owned horse may be ridden, handled, exercised, or worked only as part of an approved activity under the instructor's supervision or direction.

All lesson and approved activities involving the horse under this Agreement must remain on Lone Oak Riding Stables property.

Lone Oak does not provide boarding under this Agreement. The horse must leave the property after the lesson or other approved activity unless a separate arrangement has been expressly made.

7. HELPERS & OTHER PARTICIPANTS

A helper may assist with a personally owned horse only with the instructor's permission.

Anyone who participates in a horse-related activity, including leading, holding, grooming, tacking or untacking, loading or unloading, handling, or otherwise working with the horse, must complete the applicable Lone Oak Liability Release and follow instructor directions.

Observers remain subject to the guest and property rules in the Riding Agreement.

8. EMERGENCY VETERINARY CARE

If the horse becomes injured or ill and prompt veterinary attention appears reasonably necessary, Lone Oak may attempt to contact the owner and/or the horse's regular veterinarian.

If the owner cannot be reached and delay may reasonably harm the horse's welfare, Lone Oak may contact a veterinarian or emergency veterinary provider and request appropriate assistance.

The horse owner is responsible for veterinary, transportation, treatment, and other resulting costs.

9. PROPERTY DAMAGE

Owners are responsible for reasonable repair or replacement costs for damage caused by their personal horse to Lone Oak Riding Stables property or equipment.

This operational property-damage provision does not replace or modify any applicable provisions of the separate Liability Release and Assumption of Risk Agreement.

10. COMPLIANCE & REMOVAL

The owner and rider must comply with the Riding Agreement, this Personal Horse Agreement, instructor directions, and Lone Oak health, biosecurity, safety, horse-welfare, and property rules.

Lone Oak may restrict or discontinue a horse's participation or require the horse's immediate removal because of health, biosecurity, behavior, soundness, safety, horse welfare, rule violations, or other circumstances that make continued participation inappropriate.

11. ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I have read and understand this Personal Horse Agreement. I agree to comply with it and to provide accurate and current information regarding the horse's health and eligibility to participate.

I understand that bringing a personally owned horse to Lone Oak Riding Stables remains subject to instructor approval and to the applicable Riding Agreement and Liability Release and Assumption of Risk Agreement.
